

ESSENTIALS

1

1 Designed by AD100 architect David Rockwell for Caliber Range Corp., this delightfully unconventional outdoor gas grill is constructed of stainless steel and aircraft-grade aluminum with a Brazilian-cherry frame. It measures 60" l. x 30" w. x 36" h. and is sold in red as well as terra-cotta, turquoise, and black; $9,500. caliberappliances.com, 714-848-1349

2

2 Lapicida's Jones geometric floor tiles, inspired by 18th-century examples, is one of three designs the firm offers that use antique stone reclaimed from British buildings. Each pattern is fully customizable; from $70 per sq. ft. lapicida.com, 011-44-203-012-1000

3

3 Weathered Metals, one of Maya Romanoff's signature wallpapers, now comes in vinyl, adding extra durability to the classic look. Available in (from top) patina, luxe gold, gilded copper, and luxe red, it costs $60 per yard. mayaromanoff.com, 773-465-6909

4 A perfect blend of function and flair distinguishes the Nanz Co.'s brass door lever and faceted knob, shown here in burnished and dark-antique finishes, respectively. A variety of plated and patinated finishes are also available; to the trade. nanz.com, 212-367-7000

4

5

5 Crisp and lean, Atelier Domingue's hand-crafted steel-frame doors channel a spirit of modern elegance. Pictured in a 117" h. x 98.5" w. version with a bronze finish, the doors are available in custom sizes and colors; price upon request. atelierdomingue.com, 713-961-3444

6

6 Ann Sacks gives traditional wood paneling a dynamic twist with its Network collection of interlocking tiles. Shown is the Offset Curve pattern in (from top) burnt sepia and chocolate fondue. Each panel measures 31.25" l. x 7.5" h. Additional patterns and finishes are offered; From $31 per sq. ft. annsacks.com, 800-278-8453